Learning

Here you will find resources related to the workshops that we have held in the past. These include slides, datasets and scripts. You can also check if we have scheduled workshops and find links for you to register to them.

Coding

We have developed overtime some R scripts related to statistical analyses and power calculation that are very often needed.

Getting Assistance

We provide Biostatistical Consulting to researchers in general. Here we list a range of activities at CAMH where we may be able to assist you, including some examples.

Resources

Biostatistical resources that we found to be useful for CAMH researchers. Here you will find links to resources on Statistical Analyses, Study Design, Software and guidelines that are related to activities often conducted at CAMH

Networking

We keep here a list of the texts published in the Statistical Education section of our weekly newsletter.
